12 – 13 February 2020, Imperial College London, St Mary's Campus

Two day course looking at Medical Law and Ethics as applied to Paediatric Practice, including negligence, confidentiality, child protection, research, end of life care, organ donation, reporting of deaths and the Coronal process, including a visit to Westminster Coroner’s Court.

The course will enhance your understanding of the ethical and legal principles of treating children. It includes the concepts of autonomy/capacity/best interests and negligence, as well as covering the topics of confidentiality and consent, child protection and The Children Act 1989, research ethics in children, end of life decision making and limitations to treatment and conflict resolution – a practical approach. It also looks at aspects of child death including the role of the Child Death Overview Panel (CDOP), death certification and post mortem examinations, the Coroner’s role and Inquests.

Will be of interest to paediatricians, nurses, paramedical staff, medical and law students. Click here for details.

Contact: Eva Moreno at the Centre for Continuing Professional Development on +44 (0)20 7594 6885 or cpd@imperial.ac.uk